"Gretchen am Spinnrade" (Gretchen at the Spinning Wheel), Op. 2, D 118, is a Lied composed by Franz Schubert using the text from Part One, Scene 18 of Johann Wolfgang von Goethe's Faust. Gretchen am Spinnrade is written in a loose ternary form, a three part structure. Schubert extends the first stanza by adding it after the third and sixth stanzas. A spinning wheel is a device for spinning thread or yarn from natural or synthetic fibres. It was a precursor to later spinning machinery such as the spinning jenny and spinning frame, which displaced the spinning wheel during the Industrial Revolution.
